MEDIA KIT 2026/27

Reach nearly 40,000 Bangkok families while they are making the big decisions.

Which school, which doctor, which camp, which insurance. Parents in Bangkok ask each other first, and they ask in our group.

The group

Bangkok Expat Families on Facebook is the largest and longest-running community of its kind in the city. Expat and Thai households together, asking each other for recommendations every day.

This is a trusted space, not a paid audience. Members join because the answers are honest, which is why a sponsor seen here is taken seriously.

The website

bkkfamilies.com turns what the group knows into directories parents come back to:

- 120 international schools, with fees read from each school's own schedule
- Hospitals, clinics, maternity and health insurance
- Holiday camps and school term dates
- Playgroups, activities and learning support

How it works

Tell us your goal

Who you want to reach, and when

We suggest a fit

And send an invoice, paid in advance

You send the creative

We review it and agree the dates

It goes live

Labelled as sponsored, to nearly 40,000 families

What to send us

Group post: your text, up to 4 images or a video link, and your website link.

Sponsored article: your text (around 500 to 800 words), photos you have the rights to, and your link.

Top banner: 1200 x 200 px, plus 640 x 320 px for phones. JPG or PNG, with the link.

Sidebar banner: 600 x 500 px, shown at 300 x 250. JPG or PNG, with the link.

Our house rules

- Everything paid is clearly labelled as sponsored.
- We review and approve all copy before it goes up.
- Each pinned post stays at the top of the group for a full week.
- No guaranteed outcomes or misleading claims.
- Our reviews are never for sale. Sponsored articles are written by you, edited by us and labelled.

Those rules are why the community trusts what it reads, and that trust is what makes a sponsored post here worth more than an ad people scroll past.

Let's put you on the map.

Tell us what you offer and what you want to achieve, and we will suggest the right fit for your budget.
